

November

WRITING PROMPTS

1. You decide to make a gourmet meal for your pet.
2. Write a story about someone affected by the seasons changing.
3. You're a leaf about to fall from the tree.
4. Your cat and dog are both running for President of the United States.
5. You accidentally turn your clock back by one year instead of one hour.
6. Write a story where the leaves change colors based on people's moods.
7. Your parents have been turned into pumpkins.
8. You're a bird flying south for the winter.
9. You wake up one day and find that everyone is walking on their hands.
10. The scarecrow in your garden comes to life one day.
11. Write a letter to a veteran.
12. An alien is coming to dinner, and you have to teach them manners beforehand.
13. Make a list of ten ways you can be kind to others today.
14. You wake up one day and find that everyone in the world is wearing pajamas.
15. Write a story ending with: "And that was the last time I tried to bake a pie."
16. You accidentally shrink yourself down to button size.
17. Start a story with a character saying, "This year, I'm thankful for..."
18. A relative shows up and tells you you're a prince/princess of a small country.
19. You're invited to have breakfast with Mickey Mouse.
20. You find yourself stuck in a real-life version of Monopoly.
21. Write down ten things you're thankful for.
22. Write a story about being stuck at the mall during Black Friday shopping.
23. This Thanksgiving, you decide you're going to save all the turkeys.
24. It's Thanksgiving Day, and someone forgot to bring the turkey.
25. Start a story with: "What are YOU doing here for Thanksgiving?"
26. You're a turkey trying to survive Thanksgiving Day.
27. The Thanksgiving turkey suddenly starts talking.
28. You travel back in time to attend the first Thanksgiving.
29. You decide to adopt a squirrel.
30. You board a train to someplace magical.

